The next Wednesday Evening Zoom conversation will be on this coming Wednesday 20th April between 7.30pm and 9pm. Just a reminder that we're currently working our way through the classic Shin Buddhist text, the Tannisho. If you are interested in knowing a bit more about this click on the following link to read my introductory blogpost about it:

This Wednesday 20th, because three out of the six or seven of us who are still regularly meeting are at the Unitarian Annual General Meeting, we'll be meeting without looking at a specific chapter. This will be an opportunity for those of us who can come to talk in a more general way about the text. We can also talk through any ideas you have for future meetings once we've finished the first ten chapters. Those of you who are at the GA, please feel free to log on any time before we finish the Zoom meeting at 9pm. It will be good to see you and say hello even if it's only for a few minutes. I am away on leave for two weeks from the 2nd May so there will be no sessions on Wednesday 4th May or Wednesday 11th May.

So, the complete, current schedule looks like this:

Some of you may be interested - even delighted - not only to read this review in last week's Guardian about a gig held in the church but to see that in it, we, as a church and me as your minister, made it into the same review!

And, lastly, please remember that if you would like to speak with me during the week simply be in touch and we can arrange a suitable time to talk properly either by telephone, Zoom, at the church or on a walk around the greens of Cambridge.

With love and best wishes as always,

Andrew
